REVIEW AND COMMENT OF NEWS OF THE WEEK FROM MISSISSIPPI'S CAPITAL

Appreciating the Press—To Define 'Is A Job An Office'— Firing The Faithful From Public Patronage Unusual—Governor White To Begin Paving—Lt. Gov. Snider Sends Flowers.

APPRECIATING THE PRESS

This week—April 8 to 15—has been proclaimed "Newspaper Appreciation Week" by Governor White. To appreciate the press of the state one must study its day-by-day service to the people. The church, community, schools, county, state and all the institutions thereof are supported by the local newspaper as a matter of course. This support is accepted by the press as a part of the daily routine to duty. Too often, perhaps, the public neglects to tell the editor of the local newspaper that his efforts for the public well are appreciated. Tell him this week and impress upon him that his unselfish and untiring labors are noticed and appreciated by the public which he strives so hard to serve faithfully.

IS A "JOB" AN "OFFICE"?

The old, old question of whether a member of the legislature can, properly and legally, be appointed to a job created by the legislature of which he is a member, presents itself again as the White administration comes to name men for newly created posts. Section 45 of the Constitution forbids any senator or representative accepting any appointive "office" created by the legislature during the term for which he was elected. As usual, the question now arises as to whether a number of new places created at the recent session are "offices" within the meaning of the section, or merely "jobs." A number of legislators have joined the scramble for these places, but they insist they are after "jobs," not "offices."

FIRING THE FAITHFUL

The capital is getting a few good giggles over the dismissal of an estimable lady from the staff of the state insane hospital. (Name withheld for obvious reasons.) The lady in question was a stout supporter of Hugh White in 1931. Later she got a job at the asylum thru the influence of close friends to Mike Conner. She supported White again in 1935, but recently when the hospital administration was changed to conform to their political notions of the White regime, the aforesaid estimable lady was called up with scores of other employees and summarily dismissed. Incidentally, a lot of changes are being made at the asylum, including the addition of two more doctors to the medical staff, bringing the total up to six.

WHERE PAVING BEGINS!

Governor White says it is goodbye to mud, dirt and flying rocks on Mississippi highways. First batch of the $23,000,000 in highway notes—$5,000,000—is to be marked this week. Likely to be sold to private investors, instead of USA. To this Uncle Sam will add $4,000,000 of the PWA grant funds, making a total of $9,000,000 available for the first section of the 1,600-mile paving program. US 51 and US 49 likely will be the first routes paved, with work beginning simultaneously on a dozen or more projects.

CHANGEABLE MR. WALL

Roland Wall, long-time mayor of Brookhaven, was reelected a few days ago and immediately resigned to become "assistant" to WPA chief Wayne Alliston. Wall was once active supporter of Bilbo (may be yet) but there is a broad hint that Pat Harrison had a lot to do with his appointment as understudy to Alliston, also a Bilbo addict. It may be that this is what Harrison had in mind recently when he said he would "make certain that WPA is not used against me this summer."

SNIDER SENDS "FLOWERS"

"You're a big, broad-minded man, Hugh," purred Billy Snider, lieutenant governor, in a letter to Governor White. The letter was made public by the governor with the comment that "it touched me." Not only is the lieutenant governor 100 per cent for the governor (since the jump to the Gulf Coast) but he has joined hands with Lonnie Stogdell in the direction of the Harrison reelection campaign. The question is: Is this the coupling that hooks the Harrison cause to the shooting star of the White administration?

HALL BACKS AWAY

Toxey Hall, Columbia lawyer, yeoman in the service of the White campaign last summer, steps up with the formal announcement that

COUNTY LIBRARY FORTUNATE TO RECEIVE BOOKS

Omar Khayyam and Other
Volumes Added to Reading Shelves—Review to Be Repeated

The Hancock County Free Library continues to be the fortunate recipient of gifts of books. During the week just past, Mr. D. E. Mannix, who resides at the Tulane Apartments, presented the library with a copy of the Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam, rendered into English verse by Edward Fitzgerald. Mr. and Mrs. George E. Pitcher from San Antonio, Texas, sent in a gift of twenty novels. Several new volumes have also been purchased for the children's shelves. Included in the number are Japanese Twins, by Lucy Fitch Perkins; Bobby and Betty on the Farm, by Katherine Elizabeth Dopp; The Engineer, by Charlotte Kuh; Little People of Japan, by Mary Muller; Page, Esquire and Knight, by Marian Florence Lansing; and Old Stories of the East, by James Baldwin.

Patrons of the Review of the Month Club who enjoyed Mutiny on the Bounty, recently at Bay St. Louis at the A. & G. Picture House, are reminded that Mr. Durante da Ponte will review The Hurricane by the same collaborators, Charles Nordhoff and James Norman Hall, at next Tuesday's meeting.

Death of Mrs. Exnicos Monday Night at 11:05; Burial at N. O. Thursday

Death claimed a sweet and lovely woman from our midst Monday night at 11:05 o'clock, when the spirit of Mrs. Alice May Miller, wife of Adam C. Exnicos, took its heavenly flight. Mrs. Exnicos had been ailing from time to time and was somewhat of a semi-invalid. Funeral ceremony was held at Fahey Funeral Home Wednesday night, with Rev. J. E. Gray, pastor First Methodist church, officiating. Remains were taken to New Orleans early Thursday morning for burial at Metairie cemetery.

In addition to her husband Mrs. Exnicos is survived by two sisters, Misses Josephine and Georgiana Miller. The deceased was a resident of Bay St. Louis the past two years, when the family home was purchased on the North Beach.

G. E. SCHILLING GOES TO JACKSON

Mr. George E. Schilling left Bay St. Louis last Monday for Jackson, where he has a position as State Supervisor for the Survey of Federal Archives in this state. The work is under the direction of the Bureau of Archives at Washington. Mrs. Schilling and Lois expect to remain in Bay St. Louis at least until after Lois has graduated from high school. Mr. Schilling has been locally engaged collecting historical data for the American Guide, a set of books to be issued by the government, and is thoroughly versed and well able to assume the duties of any position calling for a man of ability and scholarly attainments.

HANDSOME NEW HOME FOR "PASS"

Mr. and Mrs. Jeddo Markle, residents of Pittsburg, are having constructed on Pass Christian Beach a home, which, according to announcement, will cost $16,000 or more, on a lot they have purchased. They had bought the Nye ante bellum home on Waveland Beach (adjacent to the Dr. Buckley place) where they planned to build this place, but later found the lot too small for such a building. The absence of gas was a deciding factor for the Pass. Richard Koch of New Orleans is the architect and Henry Wittman of Pass Christian builder.

he will not enter the senatorial contest this summer. His decision leaves the field to two candidates—Harrison and Conner—unless, of course, one seriously considers Frank Harper, of Hattiesburg, as a "candidate." There's more talk than ever that Hall will try to beat Bill Colmer for Congress.

EASTER DANCE AT NITE CLUB

Uncle Charlie's Announces
Special Event For Saturday—Another Amateur Night Soon

Uncle Charlie announces in the advertising columns of the Sea Coast Echo a special Easter Dance on the evening of Saturday preceding Easter and the Blue Melody Band will discourse music for the event. There will be no entrance prize because of the general activity of the evening.

Amateur Night last Saturday scored with a large attendance. Miss Connie Cacioppa for best song and tap dancing captured the first trophy of $5.00 cash and the second $2.50 was captured by young Cuevas for guitar and yodeling.

Next Amateur Night is announced for Saturday, April 18. Under same rules and condition. Applicants will register with Mr. Breath.

OPENING OF NEW SERVICE TO THE PUBLIC AT NIGHTS

Rando's Beer Garden will formally open its new Beer Garden services on Dunbar avenue and St. Thomas street, with a dance to which everybody is invited. In addition to the regular curb service, patrons may occupy tables within the buildings or private booths. A splendid Victrola will supply music. All kinds of drinks, sandwiches and refreshment to appease either the thirst or hunger.

The public is cordially invited to this opening of Rando's New Beer Garden.

The same service will be given every night in addition to Saturday, in fact, Rando's is open day and night and service given at any time while the place is open.

Proprietors of Rando's plan to make their place the most popular on the Coast and will give the public the best for their money. Surely with Rando's there is a place to go every evening and to enjoy one's self. "We have felt the need of this long-felt want," said the management, "and we have hopes of success by catering to the public day and night."

NOTICE OF MEETING

Regular monthly meeting of St. Stanislaus Parents Club to be held Wednesday, April 15, at 2:30 P. M. Members are respectfully urged to be present.

GULFPORT KIWANIS HAS BAY CITIZEN TO DELIVER TALK

Club Hears Address on Occasion of Newspaper
Appreciation Week
For Mississippi

A Bay St. Louis citizen was speaker for Gulfport Kiwanis Club Wednesday noon, Hotel Markham, Gulfport, on occasion of "Newspaper Appreciation Week," proclaimed by Governor Hugh White as an appreciation of newspapers of the State and what each is doing for his respective community.

Chas. G. Moreau was guest speaker for the Kiwanis and the following are excerpts from the address, preliminaries and anecdotes omitted: "It has been said the newspaper records our birth, tells of our efforts at childhood, our triumphs at youth, records our marriage, our success thru life and that of our children and down the line of generations; to be repeated over and over."

And then the passing away of citizens, even though too frequently their sins and pays tribute. Sins, seemingly become virtues and Mr. So-and-so figures as a prominent citizen, a leader in the community. What a kind press! And frequently publishes our pictured likeness, regardless.

"The press is a booster supreme! It gives all the time, seldom receives even a faint praise of thanks. When it does, it has accomplished nothing as far as word of commendation goes. When it fails, tired by repetition and lack of appreciation, it is not only condemned, but maligned. "It works the hardest, but is the poorest paid; that is, when some one really pays. From the press much is expected—not even asked for, but looked for."

"The small daily and weekly newspaper is the most accurate record of a community. There is nothing else like it; much space is covered that could not be bought nor paid for. But the true newspaper is not mercenary, strange as it seems, but only to that extent that others might be paid for their services."

"The newspaper is unselfish. It does for others, seldom a thought of self. It is anxiously looked after, either daily or weekly, yet is the thing quickest forgotten."

"It is a compendium of current news and information. There is nothing like it, covering a wide range of news and views; a something not to be had from any other source in life and as a complete presentation. The retail price, only five cents. What a pittance for so much! "But the press is modest. It asks for little and that it gets. For others it is lavish in praise and gives

KING'S DAUGHTERS ELECT

Mrs. A. Fournier Re-Elected President—To Attend
Group Meeting

At the regular monthly meeting of members King's Daughters of Bay St. Louis, held Monday forenoon, members Board of Directors and officers for the new year were re-elected unanimously, namely:

President, Mrs. A. F. Fournier; vice-president, Mrs. K. W. Pepperdene; treasurer, Mrs. W. L. Bourgeois; secretary, Mrs. Fitzgerald; chairlady Publicity Committee, Mrs. C. G. Moreau. Other directors in addition to the foregoing included Mrs. Mary J. Montgomery, Mrs. C. M. Weeks.

A report from the hospital states during the month of March there were 40 cases received and treated, thirty of which were charity patients.

Mrs. C. E. Craft, hospital superintendent, was given a leave of absence of two weeks to attend a convention pertaining to her work.

Mrs. Fournier left during the week to attend a group meeting, King's Daughters, at Port Gibson. Her itinerary will include Hattiesburg, Cleveland, Natchez, Yazoo City, where as State president, she will attend executive meetings.

Bay St. Louis King's Daughters hospital fills a long-felt want and contributions of cash and articles are gratefully received as the amount of monies received through the regular channels fall short of the necessary amount to operate.

Rotary At Gulfport Elects S. L. Engman As President, 1936-37

S. L. (Cy) Engman, resident of Bay St. Louis, has been elected president of Gulfport Rotary Club at the Tuesday luncheon for the year, beginning July, '36. He is vice-president of the Hancock County Bank. An ideal citizen of the Mississippi Gulf Coast his selection was a splendid one and he will continue the activity of the club, which is one of the liveliest on the Coast. Not only Mr. Engman is to be congratulated but the club as well.

Lawrence Pain was elected vice-president and other directors included J. R. Nason, Rupert Cooke, Wm. H. Riche, Jason Harry and Harold Barber. At Thursday's luncheon a cake baked by Mrs. Charles A. McWilliams was brought to the luncheon and served in observance of President Dr. Charles A. McWilliams birthday. The cake was served by Mrs. McWilliams, assisted by Mrs. A. M. Fishburn.

"The Seagull" Is Name Of Place On Beach Open to the Public

Mrs. Annette Gillespie Elmer announces the opening of her new place of refreshment and food serving place for the Easter Week-end, located on the beach, near head Booker avenue.

Mrs. Elmer has built a spacious and beautiful place for pleasure and comfort of the public and how well she has succeeded is best told by a visit to the premises.

"The Seagull" is the latest establishment of its kind on the Coast beach. A barbecue pit, in front of building is quite an innovation and the most delicious sandwiches will be served fresh from the pit, including all kinds of other sandwiches.

Mrs. Elmer invites the public to visit. The place is now open. There will be a special 50-cent and a 75-cent dinner served Easter from 12 to 2 o'clock. Mrs. Elmer will also specialize in sandwiches and other things to eat during recess at Uncle Charlie's Nite Club. See ad elsewhere.

generously with no expectancy of reward.

"The real newspaper man is born. He is not made. His destiny begins at early age and the star of his life falls only when the shadows fall; the eyes are dimmed, and the two hands—busy ones in life—are grasped in final repose."

"17-YEAR LOCUSTS" DUE IN LOUISIANA, MISSISSIPPI SOON

Shrill Calls, Love Song Of Males, Herald Brood's
Return to Sunlight

Washington, March 29.—A brood of the so-called 17-year locusts is due to emerge in Louisiana and Mississippi the latter part of April or the first of May, according to Lee A. Strong, chief of the bureau of entomology.

Dr. Strong points out, however, that the brood about to emerge is not technically a locust but a cicada. Instead of a 17-year cycle it has a 13-year cycle.

This outbreak will be harder on human eardrums than on crops, says Dr. Strong. The constentation of shrill calls that heralds the brood's return to sunlight is the composite love song of the males. Any damage to vegetation is done by the females. With their sawlike appendages, the mothers carve row upon row of egg pockets in tree twigs, preferably oak, hickory and apple, though peach and pear trees, grape vines, and many other plants are satisfactory. Sometimes these pockets are so numerous and so close together that twigs or stems break off. This haphazard pruning has little effect on large trees, but may injure small ones.

Many Ideas Erroneous

From the time it was first seen by white men, the periodical cicada has been the subject of more misinformation than almost any other North American insect. Coming from Northern Europe, where locusts were unknown, the Pilgrim fathers made the original mistake in identifying the insects that swarmed suddenly out of the New England forests. The Puritans assumed they were another plague of Egypt sent as a punishment for sin.

The periodical cicada, however, is not even remotely related to the insect, which, under the name of locust, still destroys grain along the banks of the Nile, as well as in many other parts of the world, and, under the name of grasshopper, is one of the most serious grain pests in the United States and Canada. The locust, or grasshopper, with strong chewing jaws, breaks off the stems of the succulent young grain on which it feeds, and soon devastates a field. The periodical cicada—a toothless insect—sucks its food from plants without seriously harming them.

Startling features of periodical cicada outbreaks, one of which occurs every year in some parts of the country, are the suddenness with which the insects appear and the enormous numbers that congregate in one area. Overnight the ground will be riddled with millions of holes through which the pupae have crawled.

Seen as Omen of War

The adult emerges from the pupal shell as a small, bizarre-looking creature, milky white, with red eyes. Its body soon hardens and turns black and its four nearly transparent wings unfold. The legs and margins of the principal veins of the wings are bright orange. Near the outer end of the front wing is a very distinct black "W," produced by deeper pigmentation. This letter has given rise to another myth—that the coming of the periodical cicada is an omen of war.

Early in June the adults start to

ROTARY DAY FOR BAY CITY

Afternoon and Night Address by Dr. Charles E.
Barker, Nationally Known—Free

"The Most Important Job in the World" is the title of an address to be delivered at Bay High School Auditorium, Friday evening, April 17, 8 o'clock, by Dr. Charles E. Barker, Rotary's ambassador, for four years physical instructor to Wm. H. Taft, while he was president; for fifteen years "Rotary Ambassador to Youth." Wherever Dr. Barker speaks, under auspices Rotary Club, it is generally called Barker's Day.

Bay St. Louis, too, will have its Barker's Day, April 17. Bay High School auditorium after lunch hour, exact time to be given later, Dr. Barker will speak to the public, especially to all pupils from Sixth Grades up. This invitation includes the college, convent and all city schools. There will no admission, no collection asked. Rotary gives it to the youth of the city.

At night at the same place the address will be for Rotary Club members and the public interested. No charge; no collection. Absolutely free. This is Rotary Club's gift to the community.

A former president of Notre Dame university says, "Happy is the community that hears this strong, wise man, with no axes to grind and no eccentricities of philosophy or conduct." He speaks of simple straight-forward principles that many teachers and parents have spent a life time trying to imbibe or instill, and in a few moments at that. He has the truly magic touch of inspiration.

HELP WANTED FOR RED CROSS IN IN TIME OF STRESS

An appeal for funds was made recently to help those who lost their homes in thirteen Northern states. Since that time, five Southern states have been visited by disaster—both floods and tornado—which includes our State of Mississippi.

The papers have given full accounts of the loss of life, property and suffering sustained by Mississippians. We know now when our time will come to ask for aid, which will be freely and promptly given.

The quota for this county has been increased to $350.00. We must help those in need! Kindly give your donation to your Priest, Pastor, the Sea Coast Echo, or to the undersigned.

GEO. R. REA,
Chairman for Hancock County.

Announcing New Cash and Carry Store For Bay

Viator Cash and Carry Store is the name of a new grocery to be opened in the Levine Bldg., that department formerly occupied by LeBlanc's Store, carrying a full line of fancy and staple groceries, fine meats, etc.

There will be a formal or preliminary opening April 11, after which at a later date there will be the regular and formal opening, date to be announced.

The advertisement says "See our inside specials—something new for Bay St. Louis."

It pays to read the ads. E. Domingue is manager and says he will have plenty to say in future, letting prices do the talking.

GULFPORT CENTURY CLUB

The Century Club of Gulfport has elected Earl Buckley, president; Dr. E. B. VanNess, vice-president, and Donald Sutter, secretary-treasurer.

The club's annual dance will be held at the Hotel Markham on the night of April 25.

Mr. Buckley is well known in Bay St. Louis and that he has been elected to the presidency is of interest.

dis—first the males, then the females—littering the ground with wings and dismembered bodies. Innumerable larvae, hatching from the eggs fall to the ground, burrow in, attach their mouths to a nourishing root, and wait for another 13 years to roll around.

Each of the 30 known broods of the periodical cicada follows regularly its period of emergence. Important broods are known to have appeared at regular intervals for a long time—in one case for more than 200 years.

TRAIL OF THE LONESOME PINE

IT IS refreshing to note various sections of this part of the country have beautified their respective premises to the extent that following the original azalea trail, many new and similar trails have been evolved.

Various communities are advertising the beauty of their respective trail. First there was the azalea trail that Mobile originated, then other places followed in line. Certain communities are planning the wisteria trail, failing to realize such blossoms are entirely too short lived to prove of enduring value and time to visit.

The latest is the tung oil blossom trail. Picayune has come forth with the latest and certainly is "a thing of joy and beauty," as the poet has said.

Fred Sullens, genius of the Jackson Daily News, is sponsoring a crape myrtle trail (Yes, that's how Fred spells it, and Webster says it's correct) and other communities have taken to the suggestion.

Galveston has its oleander trail. All thru the city on edge of sidewalks trees apparently without number has its oleander, growing in the nakedness and barrenness of white sand.

All of the different trails are commendable and will give joy to the present and generations to come.

But the saddest of all is the trail of the lonesome pine—through the hundreds of cut-over lands, if there be any one place in such area at least one lonesome pine left. It is pitiful to travel through the interior part of the state and view devastation wrought by the ruthless and mercenary hand. It might be well to give reforestation a chance. More attention and the trail of the pines would be a good substitute for that of the "lonesome pine." It is a sad picture to contemplate.

The future of our children and their children has been sacrificed on the altar of greed and selfishness.

NEWSPAPER APPRECIATION WEEK

GOVERNOR Hugh White of Mississippi, by official proclamation, has declared that period of time from April 8 to 15 as "Newspaper Appreciation Week," and in turn the mayors of each town and city have issued a similar proclamation.

Governor White says for more than 100 years the newspapers of Mississippi have played an important part in its progress and general development.

He continues, "The editors and publishers of Mississippi serve their respective communities and their State quietly and yet to a degree far greater than many of us stop to realize."

Continuing: the celebration of Newspaper Appreciation Week should be observed with our sincere appreciation for their long years of constructive appreciation, constructive service, their faith, their vision, and their loyalty to every cause that tends to redound to the welfare and advancement of our people."

The press of the State, tireless and the poorest paid of workers, appreciate this fine gesture, for while they do not do things "measure for measure" they do like an expression of appreciation and particularly such as will make for the newspaper week. It has been suggested that friends of the press might give better patronage and subscribers more concerned about the payment of their subscriptions. All this will tend to that side we will call material appreciation. We thank the State and the City of Bay St. Louis for this magnificent gesture.

FEDERAL HOUSING ACT EXTENDED

TITLE 1 of the Federal Housing Act, under which the Government insures banks and other loaning agencies against losses sustained as a result of loans made by them for alterations and repairs to houses and for purchase and installation of machinery, has been extended until April 1, 1937. The House and Senate have both agreed to a conference report of the bill, and it will now go to the President for signature.

This will be of direct interest to our own people of Bay Saint Louis, and the balance of Hancock county and is very significant. It means people may continue to borrow money from their local banks under the housing act.

The Federal Housing Administration has no money to lend itself, but through its authority to insure loans it has helped many of our people to make needed repairs to their property that they would otherwise not have been able to make.

REPAIRING THE SHORTCUT ROUTE

THE Echo is in receipt of a communication from the Mississippi State Highway Department, that work of resurfacing the Mississippi side of the Shortcut highway to New Orleans is in process and will be finished in due time when Louisiana will declare its share of resurfacing finished.

The letter is in reply to a copy of The Sea Coast Echo containing both a contribution (from Mr. A. J. Scully) and an editorial to the effect of calling attention to the fact the work might be accomplished while the road is closed for Louisiana to do its share of reconditioning.

This is good news and the many who use the Shortcut will be more than pleased to learn of the message from headquarters.

DEVASTATED TUPELO AND VICINITY

THE mayor of cyclone-stricken Tupelo says people of his community are not inviting nor seeking tourists but are soliciting aid from the outside. With 165 dead and over a thousand seriously injured and two thirds of the city dwellings and business houses demolished there is a crying need for succor. It is expected hunger and sickness will follow, and possibly more deaths.

The Red Cross will be depended upon to do its share and even more at that but they must have funds to carry on. Cash contributions may be made through Mr. George R. Rea, Hancock county representative or the money may be sent to other recognized sources. Mr. Rea will give further information.

Mississippi is forced to call for aid from the outsiders and other communities from the State, this being the second biggest disaster, the other the flooded delta of some few years since.

Tupelo has been hit hard. More so by the impelling forces of nature as they struck elsewhere. Hence, there is more want and more need for help. We are satisfied the nation, a generous people, will respond to the appeal, but Mississippians must do their share. More favored regions should hasten to respond and that voluntarily. We must not do it from the thought that we, too, some day might need outside help but from the impulse born of the heart and willingness to help the less fortunate in a time without parallel.

With two-thirds of city destroyed, death toll constantly mounting, one cannot underestimate the suffering and want that must exist in the devastated area.

In such time of stress sympathy is all very well but material assistance must be forthcoming.

A CLAMP ON KIDNAPING RACKET

WITH the electrocution of Bruno Hauptmann we do not agree with the thought that the case is closed.

It is closed for Hauptmann. He was convicted under the most damaging circumstantial evidence possible. As to whether or not he was properly tried we do not know. However, according to the letter of the law, since he was tried, convicted and had access to every higher tribunal than the lower court, reprieves and whatnots, his execution was according to law and is not to be questioned.

But the opinion generally prevails that Hauptmann knew more about the case than was brought out in testimony; that there might be other angles and possibly others criminally involved in the famous kidnaping and possible murder. For this reason the case is not closed. Time, and only time, may bring out further developments that clear what is known as a mysterious and unsolved crime.

Hauptmann died protesting his innocence. He stuck to his story from beginning to that time on the very verge of the grave. Guilty or not guilty he stood both as a pathetic and heroic figure. He died a thousand deaths the thirteen months he lived in the prison cell where even the sun did not once smile, a captive within the grim walls of this New Jersey bastille.

His execution, however, will have a salutary effect. It has put a clamp on the kidnaping racket that was so prevalent over the country at one time. There is nothing more precious than a human life. Ourselves and our children must be safeguarded. They must be free from that shadow the kidnaper would cast over the door of our homes and interfere with that "pursuit of happiness" which is guaranteed by the constitution.

PLACARDING THE TOWN FOR SALE

WHILE we print them we do not always believe in signs. Sometimes they are harmful and fail to tell a good story. Other times they might prove informative.

Placarding a community with signs "For Sale," because the realtor agent has solicited the owner to sell his place is the poorest advertising possible. We for one, and the majority would feel the same—if we were seeking an investment it certainly would not be in a community where nearly every other piece of property is placarded with signs for sale. It decries and depreciates values.

It is a black eye and the more signs of the kind the poorer the chance of making a sale. It cheapens good property and lessens the possibility of a sale.

Some town and cities have ordinances prohibiting the placarding of property with the broadsides in question.

It is a pity the good property, the values that exist, the kind-not for sale, must suffer by comparison.

There are hundreds, possibly thousands, of such placards along the Coast, doing inestimable damage.

SENATOR HARRISON CALLS ON RED CROSS

IMMEDIATELY on receipt of the news that part of our own Mississippi had been devastated and a heavy toll of life taken, particularly in that territory of Tupelo, Senator Pat Harrison immediately called on national headquarters and asked for immediate aid for the tornado victims of Monday morning.

Senator Harrison can be depended on at all times and true to the statement he was among the first seeking aid and comfort for the victims of the worst catastrophe to ever hit our own people and State.

COLMER TO BROADCAST

CONGRESSMAN Wm. M. Colmer, of Mississippi, has accepted an invitation by the Columbia Broadcasting System to speak over their network on April 14, at 7:30 P. M. (Mississippi time) on a subject of national importance—American neutrality. Congressman Colmer invites his friends and acquaintances and all others who wish to tune in on Station WWL at New Orleans. And we are certain the Mississippi Coast congressman will have something to say.

WALLACE BEERY HEADS FINE CAST IN SCREEN VERSION OF "AH WILDERNESS!"

Lionel Barrymore, Aline MacMahon, Eric Linden, Cecelia Parker featured in M-GM's Long Awaited Filmization Of Eugene O'Neill's "Comedy of Recollection," Directed by Eminent Clarence Brown.

TEAMING two of the greatest figures on the screen today in a story that is literally the great American drama and a cross-section of average life in this nation, "Ah Wilderness!" Eugene O'Neill's great drama of family life, adolescent love, and the march of the years, comes to the A. & G. Theater, Tuesday and Wednesday, 14-15.

Wallace Beery, fresh from triumphs in "China Seas," "O'Shaughnessy's Boy" and other hits, stars as Uncle Sid, the lovable, ineffectual, inept, one of O'Neill's most human characters, with Lionel Barrymore as the father, Nat Miller, the role played on the stage respectively by George M. Cohan and the late Will Rogers.

Clarence Brown, director of such successes as "Anna Karenina," "Emilia," and "Chained," directed the story, into which he literally put much of his own life, reproducing his own high school graduation in the action. It was Brown who directed Barrymore in "A Free Soul," which won the renowned star the Academy Award.

The cast, hand-picked, is as unusual as the gripping story itself. The two high school lovers are played by Eric Linden and Cecelia Parker. Lily, the pathetic aunt, is played by Aline MacMahon. Charles Grapewin, veteran character actor, Mickey Rooney, boy comedian of "Midsummer Night's Dream," Frank Albertson, Spring Byington, Helen Fred Stone opines that too many children nowadays are putting all their time on new dance steps when they should be getting their education.

Stunt men in Hollywood receive fifty dollars for falling down a flight of stairs.

Merle Oberon is to be in "The Garden of Allah" and Ramon Navarro has recently been added to the cast. Basil Rathbone and Aubrey Smith are also expected to have parts in this production.

Jesse James, the bad man of the west, is to come to the screen. The picture will be a large scale western.

Mae West would not sign her new contract until $300,000 was put up as a guarantee for her next picture.

Grace Moore has announced that she is walking out on her recent movie contract until they can treat her more like a human being and less like a machine.

Pat O'Brien recently refused to play a part his studio assigned to him and he has been put on the suspended list as a result.

The screen stars are resorting to exercise rather than diet nowadays in order to reduce. Some do a lot of dancing, others play tennis or work in private gymnasiums.

Adele Astaire has finally signed to do one picture. She will have a part in "Dark Victory."

WHAT THE PRESS IS SAYING OF MEN AND MATTERS IN EDITORIAL EXPRESSION

THE GOVERNOR PROCLAIMS NEWSPAPER APPRECIATION WEEK

(Jackson Clarion-Ledger)

BY proclamation of Governor Hugh White, the people of Mississippi will observe the state's first "Newspaper Appreciation Week," April 8-15.

During that period the governor urges the public to impress the members of the Fourth Estate with our sincere appreciation of their long years of constructive service, their faith, their vision and their loyalty to every cause that tends to redound to the welfare and advancement of our people."

We believe that we express the sentiment of the press of the state in saying that this gesture of appreciation is welcomed sincerely by the newspapers and their publishers.

We believe, also, that we speak with propriety, when we say that probably no other single force has done so much for Mississippi as has the press. The statement is not made in a spirit of taking unto ourselves credit for a service that was rendered unselfishly and without thought of any reward other than the general advancement of Mississippi.

There are nearly 150 newspapers in Mississippi. Every single one of them serves a definite and particular need within its own sphere. None of them is over-burdened with prosperity and all of them are subjected to the many weaknesses that are inevitable to the human hands that guide them. Grateful as it is for Governor White's effort to give the press appropriate credit for its splendid work, the Fourth Estate in Mississippi needs no such public recognition to keep it working energetically for the best interest of the state.

Politicians and all the rest may come and they may also go, but the press in Mississippi, like Tennessee's faded brook, "Goes on forever."

And as it goes it sings a song of Mississippi and her people; it renders a service to Mississippi's communities; it defends the state and its institutions; it tutors the public mind in the education of the people; it molds the sentiment of the people and gives it voice.

Verily, the Mississippi press works for small wages, serves without thought of selfish reward and is proud to stand in the vanguard of Mississippi's mighty host, ready and anxious to do battle by day or by night for the honor, the glory and the security of Mississippi.

STATE'S OLDEST STORE

(Jackson News)

CREDIT for being the oldest mercantile establishment in Mississippi evidently belongs to the J. E. Nielson Company, Oxford, continuously in existence at that place since 1839, and established in Tennessee about three years prior to that date.

A survey made a short time ago indicated that the J. E. Nielson Company is the oldest store in the South and Southwest owned and operated by descendants of the founders, with the possible exception of the W. S. Farmer So, Frankfort, Ky., which is one year older. If Tennessee history of the Nielson store is not considered. There is a store in Charleston, S. C., by the name of Kerrison's 106 years old, but now sold out to other interests. A hardware store in Natchez, Miss., Schwartz & Stewart, was over 100 years old at the time it ceased operation about two years ago.

Ass't County Agent Gives Recipe to Control Plants From Lice

"At this season of the year," says Miss Jeanette Hunter, assistant home demonstration agent, for Hancock county to The Echo, "we find many species of plant lice or aphids on various kinds of plants, and all may be controlled by the same spray, which is as follows:

1 oz. Nicotine Sulphate (Black leaf 40) to 8 gals. water, or 1 teaspoonful nicotine sulphate to 1 gal. water, soapy water. This is a contact spray and is non poisonous, this makes it desirable for home use. The insects must be hit with the solution in order to destroy them, therefore, it is necessary to spray the solution on the plants, taking precautions to cover the under side of the leaves, to prevent the reappearance of insects. For the spraying, one might use a pressure spray with elbow nozzle or a common fly or mosquito sprayer."

It is suggested that plants be treated for lice on dry hot days because nicotine sprays are more effective on such days.

IN the 1936 Regular session of the legislature just closed there were 566 measures passed by both Houses, including concurrent resolutions. There were 165 Senate Bills, 16 House Concurrent and 15 Senate Concurrent Resolutions, making a total of 489 laws approved, and 31 Concurrent Resolutions. 13 Senate Bills and 19 House Bills were vetoed; one Senate Bill and two house bills held over in the Governor's office. In all there were approximately 1500 bills introduced.

Although, the 1936 session of the Legislature lasted only from January 7th to and including March 26—an unusually brief period for regular sessions of recent years—only five other regular sessions in the past 34 years passed as many or more bills. There were the regular sessions of 1914, 1916, 1918, 1920 and 1922. The largest number of laws passed by any legislature during the 34 year period just passed, was 700 laws passed in 1922, and the least number passed was 114 in 1906.

Among the changes taking place and scheduled to take place under the new setups created by the recent legislature, is that of the Secretary of the State budget commission, which position has been filled by L. Joe Folse since the establishment of this commission in 1932. Mr. Folse will be succeeded as secretary by Buford Yerger, present clerk of the House of Representatives. Mr. Folse will serve as director of the State Planning Board.

Hon. W. F. Bond, former Superintendent of education, and more recently State Director of the Emergency Relief Board, has been named as Commissioner to administer the old age pension law recently enacted by the legislature. Governor White will complete the appointment of the Board members in charge within a short time.

ECHOES FROM THE FAR-OFF COAST OF CALIFORNIA

Interesting Observations of Various Places and Points Of Interest

Santa Ana, Cal. St. Patrick's Day; Cool because it had rained during the night. Green too; green snakes squirm in a cafe window, green movies; Colleen, Bugle Anna, Yellow Dust, The Rainmakers, Desire and I Found Stella Parish.

Green is for nature. That reminds me: A beautiful Yellow Persian Cat lives in Santa Ana. It was found when a kitten on Santiago Creek, evidently abandoned. It has two complete feet on each front paw. It is fearless, and loves to box and fight!

We have a prize winner in Santa Ana too, Ethel K. Lockwood, a writer. She won the second prize in the Southern California Woman's Press Club Contest, in Los Angeles. Her one-act play, was called "Interview."

Easter is nearly here. Bunnies and Easter Eggs are piled on the counters. Here are a few items:

No bush roses, sold in Green houses during Winter. Previews are announced by a searchlight sweeping from the Theater roof. Bower's Memorial Museum, built in Mission style, with rope-enclosed balconies, above the largest room, containing early California relics, and fine photos on the walls of every mission in California. A strange event happens each year at the San Juan Capistrano Mission. Thousands of swallows arrive on March 19. The birds always leave, on the same day, too, October 23. Swifts occupy the place all winter, but the Swallows force them to leave. This year being leap year, they ought to arrive one day sooner. The people there, think they will come as usual on the 19.

The Maxwell's some friends of ours, in the Orange packing business, went to New Orleans on a visit. They greatly enjoyed the Mardi Gras Balls and parades. The Canyon wind blows in Santa Ana.

It shakes the walnuts on gorgeous bowers. That sparkle with Sunshine and painted flowers. Note:—The Capistrano birds returned on schedule to the old mission. From Mexico, winged hard down. A large throng welcomed them as they landed chattering on the eaves. For years past they have appeared on St. Joseph Day. A few of the swallows arrived on the 18th and 19th, as a Vanguard. Here are two more verses of about nearby towns:

From the Costa Mesa hills the outlook is the sea; At Balboa and Newport beach strangely, strangely fickle pair, Mountainous waves arise and wash the beaches bare.

Fresh mountain dew settling on the grass By the town of Olive, stand the spreading orange groves; Cattle graze on quiet hills, its time the Sun arose.

WHOLESALE MERCHANT FINDS TIME FOR FLOWER AND VEGETABLE GARDEN

Major W. A. McDonald Has Hundreds of Blooming Rosebushes—Home Premises Veritable Garden of Success—Has Vegetable Section to Rear of Place.

ALTHOUGH a man of affairs and a busy one, senior member of one of the largest and more successful firms in Mississippi, doing business over the country, Major W. A. McDonald, finds time to plan, create and superintend one of the largest rose and general flower gardens to be found in a private home.

As a rose grower he is eminently successful. Over three hundred bushes have been planted around his palatial home on North Beach Boulevard, the greater number of which put now are blooming. Here we find variety and color. The famous Talisman with its golden tinted deep pink petals to the immaculate white American Beauty find successful lodgement here. There are thousands of Easter (Bermuda) lilies that will bloom later. Over five hundred gladioli bulbs were set out this season. And of the spring variety of flowers, cultivated from seed there seems to be no end. There is a long row of healthy looking blooming stock plants, snap dragons, etc.

In fact it is a place where flowers bloom, the test of a successful garden. Mr. McDonald excels in roses. He grows them each year by the hundreds, adding to the number every winter. There is hardly a variety of roses that does not grow here. Ask for your favorite one and Mr. McDonald will invariably say, "Here it is."

And in addition to the cultural side, for his love for the beautiful, Major McDonald has a spring vegetable garden that is noted for its prolific and ample production and variety as well. A generous portion of the garden, is set aside for strawberries, from which the family has been supplied for some weeks past as well of early vegetables.

This is a happy and profitable combination, flower garden to the front and side of the house and to the rear a vegetable garden. Prize poultry are also kept in cages.

Naturally this requires not only no end of daily work and intelligent care, but Major McDonald is equal to the requirement. However, the actual work, which he directs, is accomplished by competent help; men who know and take an interest in the work.

The garden should prove an inspiration to others to do likewise. It is an interesting pastime. To do and to beautify is commendable. We have entirely too many yards hereabouts grown up with weeds and neglect and indifference. A little thought and attention will accomplish remarkable results.

A small garden will do as much in proportion as one of larger space. It has been said that the front yard is an unmistakable index to the interior of the home and of the people who live there.

Pepper, assistant in cotton adjustment.

The purpose of the program is to encourage farmers to plant soil-building and soil conserving crops and to adopt soil-building and soil conserving practices. Any farmer who is growing cotton on a large enough scale may divert as much as 35 percent of his base acreage and receive pay for this diversion at the rate of 5 cents per pound for the normal yield of lint cotton per acre on his farm. In addition to this diversion payment he may receive an additional grant for following certain recognized soil building and soil conserving practices. In other words says Mr. Bozeman, if a farmer has a cotton base of 25 acres he might divert 35 per cent or 8 3-4 acres and plant 16 1/4 acres.

Since there will be no cotton tax exemption certificates in 1936 this farmer can sell all the cotton he can grow on these 16 1/4 acres without any restrictions whatsoever.

There are grown annually about 300,000,000 acres of soil-depleting crops as compared to 100,000,000 acres of soil-building and soil conserving crops, so the goal for the new agricultural program for 1936 is to increase the soil-building and soil-conserving acreage by about 30,000,000 acres. The total soil-building payment for any farm cannot exceed $1.00 for each acre of crop land on the farm used in 1936 for soil-building and soil-conserving crops, except that the soil building payment to farms having less than 10 acres in such crops may exceed $1.00 for each such acre, but the total payment in such case cannot exceed $10.00 for the farm. As soon as work sheets are available additional meetings will be scheduled to give each farmer who can qualify an opportunity to file a work sheet.

—The city, having purchased right of way, are building up a street roadway leading from Second to the Beach boulevard, the new road leading to the north, while the present Second street leads to the south. When completed it will form a "Y". The work of filling the marsh land is done by the city force and will continue from time to time as the city procures the "filling."

Keep a Good Laxative
always in your home

Among the necessities of home is a good, reliable laxative. Don't be without one! Do your best to prevent constipation. Don't neglect it when you feel any of its disagreeable symptoms coming on. "We have used Dr. Tichenor's Black-Draught for 21 years and have found it a very useful medicine that every family should have in their home," writes Mrs. Perry Black, of Belton, Texas. "I take Black-Draught for biliousness, constipation and other ills where a good laxative or purgative is needed. I have always found Black-Draught gives good results."

—Mrs. M. A. Briggs, former resident of Pharr, Texas, and recent purchaser of the Dr. J. A. Evans beach home, has moved and taken actual possession of the place, located on which is accepted as one of the more desirable locations on the bay coast. Mrs. Briggs' permanent return to Bay St. Louis is warmly welcomed.

—County Superintendent of Education G. Kenneth McCarty, Hancock county, left Wednesday morning for Jackson where he transacted business at the State Superintendent's office. His main mission was in the interest of procuring funds by which rural schools might run to the end of the allotted time for a complete session.

—Members of the Women's Missionary Society, First Methodist church, gave a successful and delightful chicken spaghetti supper at the Sunday School building Thursday evening of last week. They served delicious food in bountiful measure and along with the home-made pastry "just like mother used to make." And from last reports they had cleared some eighty dollars. The ladies in charge and the cause are well worthy of the success that marked the affair. Members of all creeds patronized the benefit. The ladies in charge worked indefatigably and it is satisfying to learn their efforts were not in vain.

They are equally reluctant to leave. They have made ideal citizens.

—Mrs. Jos. L. Favre, mother of Clerk of the Courts, is reported continuing improving and her condition is encouraging to the extent hopes are entertained for her recovery. —While marked improvements are in evidence over the city that attractive section known as Cedar Point is not the exception. The beach dwelling of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bryan has not only recently undergone a thorough renovation and added improvement, but painter, Frank Miller, of Waveland, is enhancing the attractiveness and charm of this typical dwelling. The tennis court to the east side will continue a popular rendezvous to the younger set, again this year like last season with John and James Bryan as hospitable hosts.

—Recently completing an attractive and efficiency stucco cottage in Sycamore street, next to her own dwelling, Mrs. Mary Montgomery has given the contract for another similar dwelling house, on a lot west of her present two buildings. The houses are strictly modern and attractive and forms a contribution to the better side of our city construction. It has been said it costs more to build an inferior construction than a better one. All three are of the better kind.

—This is Newspaper Appreciation Week, promulgated by the Governor, and there are various ways of showing appreciation to the press for the numberless organizations and individuals given free space from time to time in order to boost with the best publicity. A renewal of subscription or a check for a new one is an ideal way to show appreciation. There are many ways to show courtesy to the editor and publisher this week and it will be appreciated.

—Mrs. Heidt D. Elliott, former Miss Effie Graham Power, was conveyed home during the early part of the week from the King's Daughters Hospital, at Gulfport, where she successfully underwent an operation for removal of appendix. It is of interest to learn Mrs. Elliott is rapidly improving and the hope is expressed she will soon be up and out again.

MINNEHAHA

What do you think of when you hear "Minneapolis" mentioned? — Flour, probably. Yet, Minneapolis is the setting of one of the most glamorous love stories related in our literature, the one which Henry Wadsworth Longfellow has enshrined in "The Song of Hiawatha." That is excuse enough for combining Sioux and Greek to form the city's distinctive name, instead of simply calling it "watertown" in standardized Anglo-Saxon.

The historic value of "The Song of Hiawatha" is not as impeccable as lovers of the poem might desire, but it makes a good story anyhow. The name of Hiawatha is the Anglicized form of the Iroquois name, which is spelled Taoungwatha and Hayenwatha.

J. V. H. Clark, in his "History of Onondaga," spelled the name "Taoungwatha" and confused the political reformer with the Iroquois "Master of Life," Dehaenah Wagli, the names being slightly similar in pronunciation. Schoolcraft, in gathering materials for his "Notes on the Iroquois," used much of Clark's version; but transferred Hiawatha to the Great Lake-region and identified him with "Nanahozho" or "Manibozo" folk good or cultural hero of the Ojibway or Chippewa Indians, son of the West Wind, companion of Paukeewis, Jagoo and Kwasind. Longfellow took up Hiawatha at this point and added a few additional touches.

Minnehaha, however, did not pass through various transformations to qualify for the feminine lead in the poem. She was a Sioux maiden. Her name was made up of two words of the Dakota, or Sioux tongue, and "haha," or laughter. Hence, Minnehaha means "laughing water" or "water laughter," and refers to the gurgling sounds made by a creek, near which the girl lived, as it swept over the rocks, now called the "Falls of Minnehaha."

The creek and the falls are now features of Minnehaha Park, in the southern part of Minneapolis. It was near the falls, history says that Minnehaha had her wigwam, and met Hiawatha. Interestingly enough, the man who has been assigned to write on this subject for the American Guide, the Government's forthcoming 5-volume travel handbook,

WHITE SPIRITUALS

The hymns sung by Oliver Cromwell's Ironsides on their way to battle by John Calvin's Dissenters in their Highland hiding places and by the Huguenot followers of de la Motte in the French prisons are still sung by their descendants in Alabama and neighboring states.

They were carried to Virginia in the prison ships by Scotch and English refugees after the restoration of Charles II, while the Huguenots, in flight from France, carried them to North Carolina.

As these prisoners forged their way into the mountainous regions of the new world, their songs sustained them among natural hardships. Centuries passed and in the isis the grandson of a Chippewa Indian chief. Minneapoli citizens are proud of the poetic background of their city. Besides naming the land about the Falls after Minnehaha, they have placed in the bed of the creek, just above the Falls, a statue representing Hiawatha in the act of carrying his sweetheart across the stream. Two of the parallel avenues which run through the city to the park are named after the lovers. Minnehaha Boulevard, which runs along the creek, is considered one of the most picturesque of city drives. In southern Minneapolis, also, are two lakes which recall the poem—Nokomis, encircled by Nokomis Boulevard, and Hiawatha.

lated mountain regions, especially those of Alabama, the songs lived on without competition, handed down like heirlooms from father to son. Today, the hymns are the same as they were 300 years ago.

Supervised musical training among the mountaineers did not begin until about 1860, when M. L. Swan, an itinerant music master, settled in Jackson County, Tennessee. He is said to have used a seven-sharp "Harp of Columbia" in setting the pitch for his choristers. From this novel instrument, the singers in Jasper derived their designation as "Greek Harp Singers." This organization gave its first public concert in 1873. In 1909, a state-wide organization of "white spiritual" singers was formed under the name of the Alabama State Sacred Harp Musical Association. It has now 110 community groups under its wing. Every July the groups send delegates to take part in the three-day "singing" at Birmingham.

The Association not only keeps alive the ancient hymns, but also the traditions of the music classes of other days. Seated about a large table, the singers are directed by a concert master who uses a pitch pipe to strike the lead notes. They first intone their "so-la-fa's" and then join in singing the words. The writer who looked up the activities of the Association in preparing articles on Alabama for the American Guide—the Government's forthcoming 5-volume travel handbook—learned that only the old hymns handed down by the followers of Cromwell, Calvin and de la Motte are used in concert programs. The reason that these are "White Spirituals" is to distinguish them from the far more widely known colored spirituals.

Some of the "White Spirituals" are widely known by old American families, though not under that classification. In many a home of the land, Grandma's musical repertoire includes the antique favorite, "Paradise," which begins: "There is a land of pure delight, Where saints immortal reign; Infinite day excludes the night, And pleasures banish pain."
